

Life application task

Key objective: Review named beneficiaries on your deposit accounts and amend them if desired.

Make sure your POD and TOD beneficiaries are up-to-date with your wishes. You can change beneficiaries whenever you want. Some banks allow you to do it online. Others require you to go to the bank in person. However, you should be able to call your bank see if you can update your POD/TOD beneficiaries online or whether you need to go to a branch office.

1. For each account you own, find out if you currently have named a POD beneficiary, and if so, who it is. Write "N/A" if you don't have that type of account. Write "None" if you haven't named a beneficiary. Make any changes desired.

Type of Account	Named Beneficiary
Checking	None
Savings	None
Brokerage/Investment	None
IRA	N/A
Roth IRA	N/A
Life Insurance	N/A
401k	N/A
Health Savings Acct	N/A

While I don't have any listed beneficiaries set up with either of my banks (Chase and SoFi), I now know where to find them/how to change them. With chase, I must go in person to a branch or call them, and with SoFi I can do it online. I don't plan on making changes soon, but once I open more accounts and have access to more income through work, I will update my listed beneficiaries.

2. OPTIONAL: To add a TOD to a vehicle, fill out the form at your state's BMV dept and submit it as instructed. The form for Ohio is at the following link:

3. OPTIONAL: List your other assets (outside of those listed in Step 1) and who you would like them to go to. NOTE: You would have to have a Will drafted to ensure that the Probate Court follows your instructions. If no Will is in place, the Court will follow state law in determining how your remaining assets will be distributed.
